SUMMARY

Ten years across four kinds of work, usually more than one at a time. Built a custom WordPress theme and grew a blog to 40,000+ monthly organic readers on 246 articles, then sold it. Proposed and built a hotel's website from behind its front desk, cutting $2,040 a year in hosting. Closed 23.1% of car-wash membership pitches, third in the company, more than half of them in a second language. Migrated a 2,500-client CRM in a month and wrote a fifteen-procedure SOP book for the company that needed one. Comfortable being the only technical person in the building.

EXPERIENCE

Operations & Marketing Coordinator · Alpha Pressure Washing

June – Aug 2026

- Migrated the company's CRM from Housecall Pro to Jobber in the first month: 2,500+ client records and 3,700+ jobs cleaned, de-duplicated, and imported with histories intact.
- Wrote a fifteen-procedure SOP book, a master services catalog, and a channel-by-channel marketing plan; planned and wrote a 48-post Google Business Profile calendar with UTM-tagged links tracked in Google Analytics.
- Produced before/after ad creative and Facebook Reels (thousands of views), Nextdoor and Yelp content, and a customer-first restructuring of the price book into package tiers.

Front Desk & Revenue Operations · The Northeastland Hotel (IgnitePI)

Sept 2025 – July 2026

- Proposed, then built, a full custom WordPress rebuild of the hotel's site: 24 page templates, 6 conversion-focused landing pages with integrated booking, copy written to the company's mission; then a companion site for the nonprofit owner, ignitepi.org.
- Moved both sites off the Cloudbeds suite onto one Cloudways server behind Cloudflare, saving $2,040+ a year; deployed Cloudbeds digital check-in and the guest portal; set the company up on Jira and documented the site there; built pre-arrival email automation.
- Managed rate plans and daily bookings on the desk, converting inquiries into reservations and upsells; trained a coworker to own the site after handoff.

Sales Associate · Washville Car Wash, Cranston, RI

Nov 2024 – June 2025

- Closed 23.1% of membership pitches over eight months (peak days above 50%), third in the company across multiple states; 49 memberships on opening day; 88% of tracked members still active at the end.
- Learned the pitch in Spanish on the floor for a customer base that was roughly 60% Spanish-speaking; upsold from the $10 base wash into $16–$25 packages by selling features as benefits.

Team Member · Pet Supplies Plus

June – Nov 2024

- Consistently over sales goals (30+ shelter donations a shift, store record of 70+); highest volume of positive customer surveys among all employees.

QA Tester (contract) · Systrix Software

Mar 2023 – June 2024

- Led pre-release smoke testing and authored test cases for AutomatePOD to establish launch readiness.

Founder · The Trail of Tales, Notes of Yore, Streamer's Haven

2019 – 2024

- Streamer's Haven (2019–2021): designed and built a custom WordPress theme; researched, wrote, and optimized 246 tutorials and gear guides that reached 40,000+ monthly organic readers with no ad spend; monetized with affiliate links and display ads (AdSense, then Ezoic); packaged and sold the site in 2021.
- Notes of Yore (2021–2023): a D&D content site with a complete guide to all fifteen 5e conditions, homebrew rules, a WooCommerce shop, and a session notebook I designed, still in print on Amazon.
- The Trail of Tales (2024): a fantasy and LitRPG review site and YouTube channel; scripted, narrated, and edited in-character book summaries (1,300+ views on a 19-subscriber channel); WooCommerce shop; a serialized web novel.

Co-founder & Developer · Ardea Studios

2015 – 2016

- Two-person web shop serving ~30 small-business clients with responsive WordPress builds through the industry's shift to mobile-first, including a Manhattan law firm's redesign.
- Migrated BrainandSpinalCord.org from Drupal to WordPress by hand: 2,700+ pages and 3,400+ posts, about 800 hours, matching the original design on the new platform.
